

COSTA RICAN RETIREMENT

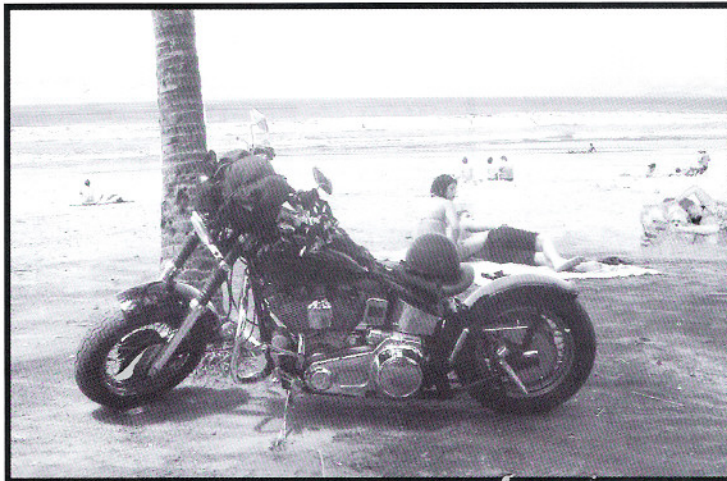

doob@wheelsontheroad.com

A recent club Sunday ride took us to Pacific coast town of Puntarenas. It is usually a 2-1/2 hour ride with a break-fast stop included, to this Key West type town! This time a bad accident on a mountain curve held us up for more than an hour. A 16 wheeler trailer flipped over onto a car trapping 3 inside!

Some of the guys, tried to pry up the car roof with a pole, but had to use a chain attached to a pick up truck to rip the roof off! A father and mother survived, but their child, not in a car seat, did not!

We finally got to the beautiful big weekend beach home at 12 noon. Most of the time we spent at poolside drinking and eating.

At 3pm we headed back on a different route. The road was still blocked by the accident and investigation. That all traffic coming and going was bumper trucks and buses. At 4:30 the rains hit us, severe rain over the road and hiding the pot holes. I hit a side mounted tail light, license plate and bracket! Now for the rest of the ride in the dark, I'm using my flashers by holding down the buttons on both sides. Oh well, when you are unlucky you have to be tough. Top it all off, my clutch cable broke going into my garage.

You got to love this lifestyle though.
